

The Responsible Thinking Process provides opportunities for students to look within themselves, decide the way they want to be, and restructure their own lives so they can get what they want without violating the rights of others.

(Ford, 2003).